CALENDAR LISTING

Dartmouth Institute for Advanced Graduate Studies (DAGS) Announces Dates for Electronic Publishing and Information Superhighway Conference

What:

The DAGS '95 Conference on Electronic Publishing and the Information Superhighway will bring people together to discuss issues, applications and technologies for electronic publishing. Topics will include business and commercial implications, copyright and privacy management, retraining, and censorship. Enabling Technologies to be discussed include new mechanisms for information retrieval (including layout and graphics-based retrieval), support for copyrights and transactions, and compression to speed transmission of multimedia data.

The conference will include many results pertaining to publishing on the World-Wide-Web (WWW), including reports from experience, extensions to the WWW to better support multimedia data, and new interfaces to the WWW.

Who:

DAGS '95 is for all those involved with or interested in electronic publishing, including Computer Scientists, Publishers, Archivists, Librarians, Authors, Curators, Policy Makers, Commentators, and readers.

Where:

Boston Park Plaza Hotel
Boston, Massachusetts

When:

May 30 - June 2, 1995
